

Handwritten text in Devanagari script, consisting of two lines of approximately 15 characters each. The script is cursive and appears to be a form of shorthand or a specific dialect. The characters are formed by small, distinct marks and strokes, typical of the Devanagari alphabet.

