Dear Mr. Balázs,

It is a pleasure to accept your manuscript entitled "Beyond Tehran and Nairobi – Can Attacks against Embassies Serve as Basis for the Invocation of Self-Defence?" - subject to some final changes – for publication in the European Journal of International Law.

First of all, please find some comments by the editorial team attached to this email, which we kindly ask you to consider.

Second, we would like you to explain in your final version where your analysis leaves us. With other words: what would be the law if the Teheran case repeats itself? Can or can one not rescue? Maybe you evaluate it from a policy point?

Thirdly, you will find reproduced towards the end of this email some comments by a reviewer we ask you to pay attention to. Please make sure to send us a final version in track changes.

To ensure a smooth and rapid production of your article, please finalize your manuscript and send it to our Managing Editor, Anny Bremner, at anny.bremner@eui.eu within two weeks of receipt of this acceptance letter.

To finalize your manuscript:

(i) add your name and affiliation footnote – do not use footnote 1 for your affiliation as this will affect any internal cross-references; use footnote custom mark * or simply use an asterisk;

(ii) add the Abstract;

(iii) format the article and footnotes according to the EJIL style sheet, here in attachment;

(iv) respond to any final reviewer comments.

Please use Track Changes when making any changes to your text.

Please read carefully the attached sheet, which contains important information regarding our current copyright arrangement.

We are not in a position at the present time to let you know in which issue your article will be published. We work with serious page limit constraints, due to the large number of excellent manuscripts we receive. Please rest assured that EJIL only publishes articles with long-lasting value and which will not become out of date in a short time. Your fine article fits this bill very well - it will be read in years to come. Our publisher, Oxford University Press, tracks the full-text downloads of EJIL articles. Each year downloads exceed 400,000, so you can be assured that your article will be well read.

Our Managing Editor, Anny Bremner, will be in touch with you in due course regarding the publication schedule for your article. Please do not hesitate to contact her if you have any questions.

As you know, our Journal's standard of academic excellence can only be maintained with the help of our colleagues in the international law community who agree to act as anonymous reviewers for manuscripts. In the spirit of academic good will, we therefore ask you to agree to act as referee for 1 -2 future articles for EJIL. Please let us know if you are not agreeable to this.

Thank you for your fine contribution. We look forward to your continued contributions to the Journal.

Sincerely,

Sarah Nouwen and JHH Weiler

Editors-in-Chief, European Journal of International Law
