Dear Gergő,

Following your application and interview, we are pleased to inform you that you have been accepted for the position of editor at Jus Cogens: The international Podcast and Blog.

We are very happy to be welcoming you into our team of international law nerds. While we have assigned you this particular role based on your skills and experience, you are free to explore all aspects of Jus Cogens, including the podcast. We welcome all proposals, and will actively support you in pursuing your ideas.

The nature of the work we do here is flexible. Haniya and I spend roughly 3 to 4 hours a week on the blog, and this changes depending on our respective schedules. We value team communication above all, and are frequently in contact via whatsapp and Google meet or Zoom. We have a team meeting once a month with all the members of Jus Cogens.

Please note, this is an unpaid position with a 1-month probation period. Kindly confirm your acceptance via email by 5 May 2021

Upon your acceptance, I will send you further information regarding the introduction meeting. I'm very happy to have you onboard!

Warm regards,

Emma
