

10-Feb-2015

Dear Mr Fabian:

Effect of anaesthetics on the properties of a lipid membrane in the biologically relevant phase. A computer simulation study (CP-ART-02-2015-000851)

The above manuscript has recently been submitted to Physical Chemistry Chemical Physics, published by the Royal Society of Chemistry. You have been listed as a co-author for this manuscript by the submitting author, Dr Pal Jedlovsky, and an account has therefore been generated for you in our online submission system.

You can check the status of papers you have authored/co-authored and edit your personal information and contact preferences by logging into your account:

Access your account here: <https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/pccp>

USER ID: [REDACTED]

Password: [REDACTED]

If you have any questions regarding this submission or your account, please contact the editorial office.

Yours sincerely,

Physical Chemistry Chemical Physics Editorial Office

pccp@rsc.org

DATA PROTECTION

The Royal Society of Chemistry will store your information and may contact you from time to time about activities, products and services related to your research interests. If you do not wish to receive this information, you can change your settings at any time by logging into your user account. Any such email you receive from us will also give you the option to unsubscribe.
