Extracellular vesicle release from intestinal organoids is modulated by Apc mutation and other colorectal cancer progression factors
Cellular and Molecular Life Sciences

Dear Dr Wiener,

I am pleased to tell you that your work has now been accepted for publication in Cellular and Molecular Life Sciences.

Your article will now be handed over to the production department and typeset within the next three to four weeks. Then you will receive the proofs for correction. Kindly let us know if you cannot be reached at the above-mentioned e-mail address during that time.

Please note that the online version of your article which will subsequently be released with a digital object identifier (DOI) is the final version of your article and no further changes will be possible. Therefore we ask you to check the proofs with utmost attention, including numbering of references and the correct spelling of all authors' names. If there is more than one corresponding author we ask you to coordinate your activities carefully.

Thank you for submitting your work to this journal.

With kind regards

Beatrice Menz on behalf of Klaus Eichmann
Editor-in-Chief
Cellular and Molecular Life Sciences
