

Recommendation Certificate for the Pro Scientia Gold Medal

Dear Honorable Members of the OTDK,

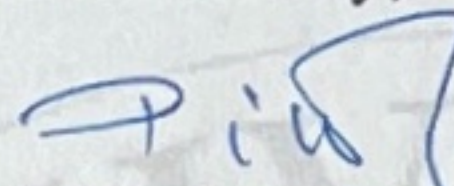

I wish to recommend to you the Norwegian medical student Andreas Bergheim Graff for the Pro Scientia Gold Medal.

Andreas has outstanding achievements during his years at the Medical University of Pécs. He has been an exceptionally active student, participating as board member both in the international and Norwegian student councils, as a teacher in first aid and communication-skills, and as an officer in a local student charity. Through his work he has contributed greatly to the international student society while maintaining academic proficiency.

His thesis on "The Ketogenic diet in the treatment of obesity and metabolic diseases" is his first experience with scientific research and as one of few international members of the TDK he participated in the Local and National Student Research Conferences 2021 achieving first place in both. He is a passionate communicator of science with a genuine interest and dedication towards his work. His thesis is seen by the University as an interesting topic and basis for publication as an article with a complete meta-analysis.

Because of all these achievements I would like to recommend him for this incredible Award.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Dr. Pintér Erika
egyetemi tanár
