Courses (plus ECTS) / activities: During my CEEPUS exchange in Brno, I had the chance to explore not only the city's academic institutions like Mendel University but also its surrounding natural wonders, such as the Moravian Karst region. This experience was a highlight of my academic journey as it allowed me to integrate theoretical knowledge with hands-on exploration of geographical phenomena. Venturing into the Moravian Karst provided a unique opportunity to witness firsthand the intricate landscapes shaped by geological processes, enhancing my understanding of physical geography. We also had the chance have an insight into the development of cities in a region, which historically belonged to the Austro-Hungarian Dual Monarchy, including capitals, industrial and post-industrial cities. I had the opportunity to have in-depth discussions with a professor from Mendel University about various professional topics, including the Czech economy. These conversations provided valuable insights into the economic landscape of the region, offering perspectives that went beyond textbooks and lectures.
