To Whom It May Concern,

This letter serves as a recommendation for Mr. Abel Veres to participate in the University Research Scholarship Programme through The Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Mr. Veres recently participated in the 2024 Barth Graduate Student Colloquium on June 11–14 hosted by the Center for Barth Studies at Princeton Theological Seminary in Princeton, New Jersey (United States). His excellent application to the research colloquium was accepted among many other PhD graduate students and recent PhD graduates who also applied to participate. The colloquium does not typically accept Master's students to participate in the event, because the program was designed for students at the doctoral level. However, the Center for Barth Studies will make exceptions to accept high quality submissions from Master's students like Mr. Veres. His participation in the event can be confirmed through the colloquium webpage: <https://barth.ptsem.edu/2024-colloquium/>

During the colloquium, Mr. Veres was a respectful and able conversation partner. His own presentation generated rich discussion amongst participants. I hope that Mr. Veres will apply to future colloquia and be involved in the academic conversation related to Karl Barth's theology well into the future. I highly recommend him with enthusiasm for the University Research Scholarship Programme and have full confidence he will offer a meaningful contribution if accepted.

If you should have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best wishes,

Kait Dugan, PhD

Director, Center for Barth Studies, Princeton Theological Seminary
