Traineeship title: Trainee – Lab work
Detailed programme of the traineeship period including tasks carried out by the trainee: The student participated in lab work with normal hours Monday-Friday, 9-5 approximately. They worked alongside myself or a technician in the lab for direct supervision, training to become independent in all aspects of an ongoing project. Techniques include fly genetics, dissection, confocal imaging, image analysis and standard molecular techniques such as protein extraction and western blotting. The student actively participated in group meetings which are a mix of round table discussion and presentations using powerpoint. Guidance in preparing and presenting was followed.
Knowledge, skills (intellectual and practical) and competences acquired (achieved Learning Outcomes): The student independently carried experiments from selection, crossing and stock making, to dissection, staining imaging and image analysis, independently. Needing only discussion. Very independent. The student also carried out a series of molecular techniques where in some case technical assistance and feedback was required. We hope that this has been helpful to her.
Evaluation of the trainee: The student gave a dedicated and very competent performance. The student is highly intelligence and very capable in the lab. Communication skills are at an excellent level.
