Dear Dr. Makoto Hashizume,

I am writing on behalf of Katalin Anna Olasz, a third-year medical student who has been working in our institution since 2021. Kata is currently teaching macroscopic anatomy to first-year students independently and leading our preparation courses as one of the tutors in both Hungarian and English language.

In addition to her teaching responsibilities, Kata is an active member of our Clinical Anatomy research group as a Students' Scientific associate. She works under the supervision of colleagues with medical expertise.

Her interest has opened a new direction in the whole Hungarian medical research, in which a possible collaboration with your institute would be an honour for Semmelweis University. As Director of the Anatomy Institute and responsible for Foreign Language Education at Semmelweis University, I strongly support this initiation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Dr. Alán Alpár
